About

[MultiMedia Journalist] [Video Editor]
[Brand, Motion, Graphic & UI designer]
[SDGs Advocate] & more..

A Digital Communications Specialist, Researcher and Program designer with expertise in media production, program development and promotions, Public Relations and Cinematography.

I have an evinced history of working in the for-profit and non-profit sectors. Over the years I have worked on Magazine publications, TV drama series production, Business Promotional videos, Montages and other consulting roles as regards communications.
Also provided high-level support in corporate communications, Development Communications, Public Relations and Branding.

I love to work in a team, travel and tour while on the job and always open to learning new things, meeting new people and working with like-minds.
I speak, English, French, Hausa, Idoma and Tiv languages respectively.
I love basketball and working-out in the gym.

About
FlipSCRIPT

Imagine a tree in its full bloom, it's roots are sunk deep into the earth and it's branches are covered with blossoms, all emitting a lovely fruity scent, and containing thousands of seeds that are capable of producing more trees. And time passes and then a wind blows, and then the petals begin to dry and fall off and the seeds fall off as well and instead of them taking root and reproducing, they break down and die off along with the spent petals..and when you take a look at this, you imagine the senseless waste, the mess, the inefficacy, and then you compare it with what is happening in our community today.
If you flip through the pages of lives of young people today, you find out that young people have been nurtured and dropped off but they have failed to be productive. A look into the lives of more than half of the young people today and you begin to see how unwise decisions, sleep, unfulfilled potentials, continuous intake and abuse of drugs, excess drinking has taken root and brings them down. It is more than saddening to realise that the leaders of today achieved all that our great country is when they were youths. And we the partners of today and leaders of tomorrow are ceaselessly and needlessly wasting.
And as a result of this, our dreams and desires then take the wrong flight and we are left alone and empty, having nothing to offer to our society but miscreancy.
Maybe it has something to do with our upbringing or lack of motivation therein or because of the growing realisation that we haven't been given the opportunity to participate essentially in society in a meaningful way, we will never know.
But what we know is that some people are keen on seeking better ways of life and value creation through the way they know how. Which is why we at Flipscript have decided and dared to be different; to use the knowledge that we have been exposed to as mass communication students, the knowledge of creative writing, ICT and graphics design amongst others to carry out an unassigned assignment which is meant to motivate young people towards positivity in thoughts and actions, inspire and reform them towards creating a better atmosphere of life for themselves and to steer their own ship henceforth without delay into creativity and innovation.
Therefore Flipscript magazine serves as a wakeup call for all youths in Nigeria. In the year 2018, we expect all the ills that were the trends of 2017 to have died with it and we expect the rise and reformation of youths.
If we at flipscript can do it, with just a little bit of commitment, passion and zero capital, then you can.
Yes you CAN!
